

The Author Himself - a biography

Find out who the brain behind the fascinating Sherlock Holmes stories was.

Do some research in the internet.

Be aware, there will be millions of facts but focus on important ones, for example:

- when/ where was he born, parents, siblings
- school, university
- where he lived
- if he was married, children
- what he wrote
- his hobbies and other free time activities
- and anything else you think is important

Maybe, you will find a funny anecdote you would like to include to entertain your group/ your class.

Think about how you are going to present your findings to your group/ class: in a stage performance, in a podcast, in an interview or come up with an idea yourself.

You can work alone, with a partner or in a group.
